Product Knowledge

Rejection of tiles must be made prior to installation.

Not rated for high-use counters, i.e., kitchen or workstations. May be used in bath applications. Handcrafted tile is not wear resistant and is not guaranteed to be wear resistant.

Not rated for floor due to wear and slipping concerns, but 2 x 2s and 1 x 1s may be used on shower pans.

All product sizes are approximations.

Color, shade and texture variation are sometimes extreme, and may differ from product samples and job add-ons.

Variation in size, color, texture may occur from shipment to shipment. No guarantee that tiles received in subsequent orders, as add-ons will match or blend well with those from original order.

Bisque is unglazed tile that should be sealed before adhering it to a surface. Sealing is recommended after grouting and periodically as upkeep.

Both glazed and bisque (unglazed) are characterized by size, texture, color and shade variation.

Several types of surface irregularities can occur (surface pops, puddle of glaze in depressions).

Surface pops and efflorescence may occur before and/or after installation and are not uncharacteristic of handcrafted tiles.

Surface pops result from concentrated spots of lime that pop off of the tile. Efflorescence describes the growth of salt crystals on a bisque surface due to the evaporation of salt laden water. On glazed tiles this happens below the glaze surface and can have the same effect.

Crazing which is the appearance of cracks in the glaze surface, can occur before or after installation and is an inherent characteristic of many handcrafted tiles. Crazed tiles should be treated with a penetrating sealer prior to GROUTING to limit STAINING, this may also help provide moisture protection.

Sealers may change the appearance of some colors, please test your sealer before applying to tile. Some of our tiles may have a porous or irregular surface that may be accentuated by a contrasting grout color. If this is not your preferred result, consider sealing the tiles with a penetrating sealer.

Periodic resealing is a necessary maintenance procedure for crazed glazes in wet areas such as showers.

Sanded Grout is recommended for grouting. A sealer, compatible to the grout, is recommended for our translucently glazed tiles.

Grout is not waterproof even if it is sealed, latex-modified, or epoxy. It must be assumed that water will get into the tile system in every case. Hence, mold may become an issue.

Cleaning with gentle soap that contains no acids and a soft cloth. We recommend avoiding the use of cleaners that contain phosphoric acids or glycolic acids that may cause etching and damage to glazes.

Samples may not accurately represent the full range of variations of the actual order.

Avoid customer service problems or delays, order 5% extra for cuts, breakage and layout changes.

A mud set is recommended if tile will come in contact with water. Cement board with thin set may also be used. We do not recommend applying tile on green board or sheetrock & do not recommend using mastic.

The surfaces of handcrafted tiles are rarely flat and may vary in thickness. Installers should shuffle tile and /or draw from multiple cartons to take advantage of these irregularities.

The Ceramic Tile Institute does not rate our tiles.

The tiles are considered for indoor wall application only and are not freeze tolerant.

As in all tile, handcrafted tile can chip, nick & scratch.

Handcrafted tile is not acid resistant and should be used on counter tops only at the client's risk.

Tile can stain from juice, cola, cleaners or sealers. We recommend testing the sealer on tiles before use.

If end-user insists on installing our tiles on a counter-top, we suggest incorporating a built-in cutting board or a work surface station into their design.

Our handcrafted tiles are not for use in pools, wet or dry saunas and steam showers.

Regarding fountains, we recommend using our tiles above the water line.

Writing or marking on our tiles (especially the matte finished) is not recommended.

Matte Tiles may have little or no shine. We recommend cleaning our Matte tiles with a neutral cleaner and a white synthetic, non-abrasive pad.

Lighting, especially, non-incandescent, may dramatically effect the appearance of color. This phenomenon becomes more apparent when textured tiles, are installed adjacent to smooth tiles.

Rejection of tiles must be made prior to installation.

Installation of our tile constitutes acceptance of the aforementioned irregularities.

Tile installation does not start with the tile. It is a highly technical skill. We recommend hiring a certified ceramic tile installer.

Residential shipments are shipped with a Signature Required for delivery.

LTLs should be inspected prior to acceptance. Any obvious damage must be noted on the Bill of Lading. Do not discard any damaged product.

Regarding breakage freight companies require that all product, boxes and packing material be saved for inspection.

Handcrafted tile is not for everyone. It is important to share the above information with your company personnel and your clients.

General Policies

Residential shipments are shipped with a Signature Required for delivery.

Claims or Damage - Common Carrier Shipments and Parcel Service Shipments [Fed-Ex, DHL, etc.] Our orders are inspected & properly packed for shipping. LTLs leave our warehouse on a pallet, which is banded & wrapped in plastic. Parcel Shipments are packed with shredded paper. We also use bubble-wrap and cardboard where necessary. Upon arrival, Consignee is responsible for inspecting product for hidden/obvious damages, shortages and /or breakage on the Freight Bill. In the event breakage or shortage occurs, consignee is responsible for maintaining original packing material & product to insure a proper claim with the Carrier. Mexican Handcrafted Tile, Inc. [MHT] is not responsible for product broken during shipment; hence, MHT reserves the right to preview all claims for breakage or shortages of product. The consignee is financially responsible for all replacement products, unless MHT agrees to pursue said claim. If MHT pursues a claim, it is understood that consignee will be responsible for retaining, in proper order, the original packing material and product for inspection by the Carrier. Failure to retain packing material until claim is settled may void the claim, in which case Consignee becomes financially responsible for all charges, if any, which may be associated with replacement product including freight, special order fees, and handling fees.
